City of Brookhaven presents "Steve Clark of the League of American Bicyclists"

Brookhaven, GA Oct. 20, 2014 -- On Wednesday, Oct. 22, the City of Brookhaven will host longtime bike advocate, Steve Clark of the League of American Bicyclists (TLAB). Steve, a Community Specialist, with TLAB has been given the responsibility to travel the country and visit communities who are interested in becoming more bike friendly. Starting at 9:30 a.m., Steve will participate in a bike ride through the City of Brookhaven and return to City Hall at 11:00 a.m. for a Q&A session.

Through their Advocacy Advance Partnership program, the League of American Bicyclist has the ability to provide critical resources and research to the City of Brookhaven in an effort to make the City more bike friendly.

"TLAB can help us understand Georgia laws, funding, how to best engage our diverse community," said Councilmember Joe Gebbia. "In essence they have the ability to provide us with the tools to help us reach our goal to make biking an integral part of the City of Brookhaven."
