John Park Officially Takes Oath of Office to Represent District 2
City has full representation, again.

Brookhaven, GA, Nov. 12, 2014 – Today, Councilmember-Elect John Park, a software engineer, officially took his Oath of Office certifying him as the District 2 representative on the Brookhaven City Council. After the invocation from Reverend Jun Ro Park, Park's father, brief remarks from Mayor J. Max Davis and fellow Councilmembers, Chief Judge Gregory Adams of DeKalb County Superior Court officially administered the Oath of Office to Councilmember-Elect, John Park, in a swearing-in ceremony held at Brookhaven City Hall. Councilmember Park was elected to fill the vacated District 2 council seat in a Special Election and will be up for reelection in 2017.

"This is an exciting day for us because we grow our council back to the size it's supposed to be. I'm happy for the residents of Ashford Park, Drew Valley and everyone in District 2," said Mayor J. Max Davis.

“Congratulations to John and thank you for your public service,” said District 3 Councilmember Bates Mattison.

“We were like a four legged stole but with three legs and we stood pretty well but we are going to be solid now. Welcome Abroad John,” said District 4 Councilmember Joe Gebbia.

“The first thing I would like to say is, thank you. I am honored to be elected, I am honored to be a member of this team. The purpose of a team is to become more effective than the sum of its parts,” said District 2 Councilmember John Park.
